

Slack State of Work Report

Those who have adopted AI in their work are more likely to report significantly higher levels of productivity than those who have not.

53%

91%

of respondents say automating routine tasks boosts their productivity, saving an estimated

4.9

hours per week.

35%

of managers say keeping their team motivated is their top productivity challenge.

94%

respondents say feeling happy and engaged at work is a key driver of their productivity.

Desk workers who feel more productive are more likely to be able to focus.

13%

